pit where work was in progress and where it was ignited. The explosion had tremendous force, being heard miles away.

The first party of rescuers organized endeavored to penetrate the pit through the old workings. They got far enough to be able to see the groups of dead, but they could not reach them, and were compelled to retreat by the suffocating volumes of smoke.

Upon the first appearance of a diminution in the volume of the smoke, the rescuers went down the main shaft. They resoued a large number of miners yet alive, but all badly burned, and they brought out 60 dead bodies, nearly all so mutilated that recognition of them is impossible.

San Francisco, Feb. 6.—[By the Associated Press.] The Grand Jury today presented the report of their investigation of on the part of the officers of the jail, they have not found that any officer charged with the custody of the escaped prisoners fraudulently connived at or voluntarily permitted such escape. The jail is utterly unfit for the purposes for which it is used. The walls ure rotten and crumbling, and perhaps half a dozen determined men on the outside could, under cover of darkness, cut through the walls in less than fifteen minutes and effect a general jailbreak.

The owners estimate that one hundred and twenty persons lost their lives by the

The cause of the explosion was the flooding of pits adjacent to that in which the explosion occurred. This forced gas into the pit where work was in progress and where it was ignited. The explosion had tre-

Halstead Admits That Campbell Proved a Tough Subject-Senator Sherman Denles Sign-Ing That Contract.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—[By the Associated Press.] The House committee investigating the ballot-box forgery this morn-ing called Senator John Sherman as the first witness geles is considered one of the most important of the year. It is to be held in this city in March, and includes 29 colts and fillies 1 to 3 years old, the Sultan stallion Aleazar and all brood mares of the farm, except the famous matron Minnehaha. He was shown exhibit "A," and declared He was shown exhibit "A," and declared that he never signed it. He saw it first when it was sent him in November by Halstead. The signature was a copy of his rubber franking stamp, and not an imitation of his signature. Witness never BESSEMER (Ala.), Feb. 6.—For several days the negroes have been holding meet-ings, discussing Senator Butler's bill. They heard or knew of a ballot-box contract, and heard or knew of a ballot-box contract, and never heard of the Campbell bill before Gov. Foraker's Music Halt speech.

Murat Halstead, editor of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, testified that when he published Gov. Campbell's signature he cut off from the photographic copy of the paper, the signatures below Campbell's. Witness told how he got hold of the paper, of his talks with Gov. Foraker and others about it, and how it was thought advisable to use it in the campaign against Campbell.

Witness did not see any room for questioning the genuineness of the paper. He told Foraker it was necessary to use the paper or part of it, and that he felt so exasperated at the Idea of Sherman, Buttseworth and McKinley, going in with John McLean in such a matter that he felt empted to explode it under them. It was something more than policy; it was almost a public duty. But Campbell was the only one before the people as a candidate for a public office, and therefore it might be proper to use only his name. Another reason for cutting off all names but Campbell's was that Sunset Cox, whose name was among the forceries, had just died, and witness felt convinced of the genuineness of the signatures.

Halstead's theory of the forgery was that the signatures.

Halstead's theory of the forgery was that it was never intended or expected to harm anybody. The motive originally was twood's extreme anxiety to get the Smoke Inspectorship. It was preposterous to suppose that Gov. Foraker thought there was anything fraudulent about it. There was a cloud of witnesses, and the lawyer who drew up the contract. Witness wondered now that they did not come down and deny it the day after publication. Undoubtedly Wood put Senator Sherman's name on it to make it impossible for Forsker to use the paper. After publication witness was staggered to see Senator Sherman's declaration that the paper was a lie, but he satisfied that Sherman was extremely dilikely to have signed the paper, knowing what it was. Thirty years ago Sherman lost the Speakership by signing in that way "The Compendium of the Helper Book."

Mr. Halstead placed at the disposal of the committee his private letters to Gov. Foraker, and said that some of them were conclusive evidence that both himself and Foraker were convinced of the soundness of the paper. the signatures.

Halstead's theory of the forgery was that cal formalities, where the votes of colored men are suppressed by violence or neutral-ized; that themselves, their wives, daughized; that themselves, their wives, daughters, mothers and sisters are made special objects of unfriendly State legislation, and compelled to travel in flithy and inferior cars; that colored American etitizens convicted of petty offences through unfriendly courts are subjected, while undergoing the sentences of said courts to cruel and inhuman treatment, in addition.

"Colored American editzens," the address says, "when suspected of having committed certain offenses and while in the firstoff of scalled officers of the law, are, in many instances and as we believe with the knowledge and through the connivance of said officers, lynehed and murdered. Our children in many of said States are not afforded school facilities to which they are entitled. The labor system in most of the Southern States is unjust and unfair, and colored Americans seldom, if ever, enjoy a fair or reasonable portion of the fruits of their labor. They are taxed without representation and compelled to obey laws they

Foraker were convinced of the soundness of the paper.

Mr. Cogswell asked why the witness did not verify the character of the paper by Snerman and Butterworth.

He replied that Butterworth was not in the country or had just returned. Sherman was in Washington. He recalled the saying that "you could get a member of Congress to size a petition to get himself hanged." It was not pleasant to put a finger on a sore spot like that; it was not his particular part to go scratching at it just then. The publication was forced by circumstances beyond his control, so he did not consult the signers. He admitted that he could not draw Campbell out as they tried to do.

"The fact is," said he, "he turned out "
"The fact is," said he, "he turned out " more difficult person than we thought."

Mr. Turner: Then if the Governor had succeeded in getting Campbell into a corner, mili all political particles will accord to use the rights and privileges to which we are not the land."

The address favors the Blair Bill, the placing of federal elections under federal control, and emphatically denounces the bill for the deportation of colored men.

Seaman was represented as the owner of property in Pasadena valued at $20,000 or thereabouts. Mr. Clark would in an insinuating and interesting manuer describe the perfect solvency of the young lady, and his manner and assurance were such that in nearly all cases he got credit, and took his purchases away with him in his carriage. In some cases, notably in carriage. In some cases, notably in that of Mr. Hewes and J. W. Robinson, he was not so successful. In the case of Mr. Hewes, Clark and his famcase of Mr. Hewes, Clark and his family already had shoes upon their feet, when credit was refused. He darted out the back door and got away with the shoes, while Mrs. Clark and the others were obliged to remove the shoes from their feet. A day or two afterward Clark called and paid a clerk $3 for the shoes he ran away with. In the case of Mr. Robinson, Clark had purchased about two hundred dollars' worth of dry goods at Robinson's establishment, before he mentioned credit. Theredence, for improved acreage.

But the goods were forcibly removed from the goods were forcibly removed from the carriage, with the exception of a pair of gloves, for which Clark or Miss Seaman still owes. It was laughable to hear the experiences of the different merchants, and the various strong adjectives used in describing Clark.

In the course of the case, while Mrs. Belle Clark was on the witness-stand, Clark used an expression towards Glowner which caused him to fly the track, and he fired a book at Clark's head. The transactions which Clark has had would readily fill several columns, and in every one of them he has indulged in leval pyrotechnics instead of paying his bills. He has said that he could not pay them; that he was expecting money from the East; that he would pay the bill if it was a just one; in fact, giving all sorts of excuses.

Mr. Crandall, who had a note from Clark for some purchases in his establishment, went out to Pasadena day before yesterday with a deputy consta-

District Attorney declining to issue any complaint.

Mr. Clark has figured in suits in the city several times of late, in which he has been his own attorney, and displayed a shrewdness which has made him quite a formidable antagonist. At the same time Mr. Clark has played a star engagement, both in Pasadena and Los Angeles, in the purchase of all kinds of goods from all kinds of all kinds of goods from all kinds of stores. But Mr. Clark has not paid the bills, and the merchants say in plain terms that he is a "dead-beat" and scoundrel. There is scarcely a large business-house in town which Mr. Clark has not favored with his custom, and from which he has not made purchases. Little by little they made purchases. Little by little they made purchases. Little by little they furnished in the manner described, laughing in their sleeves at the irate merchants, telling them that if they "behave decent" they may get their money.

CROSSWALKS.

A Strong Complaint from Washington Street. The following letter, received at the TIMES office yesterday, explains itself:

Los ANGELES, Feb. 6, 1890.

Editor of The Times: Will you kindly allow me a little space in your columns for the purpose of bringing to the notice of the voters of the Fourth and Fifth wards of the purpose of bringing to the notice of the voters of the Fourth and Fifth wards of this city a little transaction of the Board of Public Works at its lass meeting? During the late unusual storms West Washington street was made the waterway for all of that portion of the city that is drained into the Arroyo de los Rayes, and as a consequence it has been kept muddy for a greater length of time than almost any other street in the city. The people living on this street and streets adjacent have asked the Council for a few street crossings, so that they could get to the street cars, postoffice, etc., and more particularly that the children attending the public schools might not be compelled to wade this wide, muddy street, and then remain in school all day with wet feet, but all these requests have been denied. A few days ago Messrs. Hellman & Haas, who own a little grocery store near the western limits of the city, asked that a crossing be placed down at their place of business to accommodate their trade. Their petition was readily granted, with apologies no doubt for not having placed the crossing there before. The voters living on Washington street will please keep this little incident in mind when the misrepresentatives of these wards ask for a reelection.

adjectives used in describing Clark. In numerous instances he gave notes for the purchases.

The fun came in, however, in describing the attempts to collect the bills. And here the fine Italian hand of Clark was most conspicuous. Upon the presentation of a bill it would transpire that there had been a transfer of Miss Seaman's property; or instead of finding the goods in possession of Miss Seaman they would be in Clark's house and he would telt the collector or the deputy constable to keep out of his house or he would shoot him. One man when he came to attach what he thought the property of Miss Seaman would find a homestead put on it in Mrs. Belle Clark's name. In all these cases the adroit lawyer has put legal obstacles in the way which have so far proved stumbling blocks.

In one instance a Pasadena lumber firm was contracted with to deliver some lumber upon a certain lot. The lumber was delivered, but on a different lot, where a house was built, and when the bill was presented Mr. Clark called attention to the fact that the lumber was delivered, but on a different lot, where a house was built, and when the bill was presented Mr. Clark called attention to the fact that the lumber was delivered, but on a different lot, where a house was built, and when the bill was presented Mr. Clark called attention to the fact that the lumber was delivered by the company that them a right of the company on Los Angeles street, and a five-minute service will be put on. WHICH DECLARES ITSELF AT SAN PEDRO

By Sending Threatening Cards Through the Mail-Either a Single Covert Enemy or an Association of Lawless Bulldozers at Work.

Pedro, which now and then distinguishes itself by a display of violence, and it has once more furnished material for a sensation.* It is several months since a crowd of masked men took Gus Bremen, a man who had be come obnoxious to them, from his home and tarred and feathered him at San Pedro. The subsequent arrest and conviction of some of the men en gaged in the sport is still fresh in the minds of all, and the feeling at the time of their conviction was that the "White Cap" idea had received such a set-back that it would be rooted out, as an institution, in San Pedro. The better class of citizens at the seaport recognized the injury such frontier methods inflict upon its growth, and tried to eradicate such methods.

But recent events at San Pedro show that the same old feeling exists, although it is probably contined to a smaller circle. A few day ago James Heraid, a zitizen of San Pedro, and who has resided there several years, received a letter in his mail, which looked innocent enough on the outside, but which, upon being opened, revealed a blood-red card, just large enough to fit inside the looked innocent enough on the outside, but which, upon being opened, revealed a blood-red card, just large enough to fit inside the ordinary-sized envelope. Upon the card was a large skull and cross-bones, and underneath, in bold type, a warning for him to "Beware of the Mystic League!" The inclosure was really startling in its appearance, but Mr. Herald, who has a large share of grit, laughed at it, and although he kept the card, paid no attention to it. In the course of a few days more he received a similar inclosure, the only difference being that the second card bore the notice, also in bold type, of "Second Warning."

The continued interest of some person or persons in his movements desired.

The continued interest of some person or persons in his movements decided Mr. Herald to turn over the bloodthirsty notices to the authorities, and they have been working on the case for a few days past, but without discovering any definite clews as to the sender of the cheerful missives.

Mr. Herald is in the saloon business in San Pedro, and runs the quietest and most orderly place in the town, the Reception, on Sixth street, between Beacon and Palos Verdes streets. He is an old soldier, having been through the war, and left one of his legs on the battlefield. He is a man of some means and unquestioned bravery. When he first went to San Pedro there was a disposition on the part of some people to try to run him out, and he was threatened frequently that if he did not leave he would be "done up"." He quietly said that he had dehe did not leave he would be "done up." He quietly said that he had de-cided to remain in San Pedro, and re-main he did, going about his business and paying no attention to the threats and paying no attention to the threats made against him. Some time ago he decided to go out of active business himself, and rented his place to a Mr. Francis, who gave it up a few months ago, and is now running the Clarence Hotel, in San Pedro. Francis, who is a Colorado man, had some trouble with Mr. Herald about the rent of the saloon, and some hard feelings were engendered over the matter. Since that time Herald has taken the place back, and has been running it again.

and has been running it again.

The officers do not know whether there is an organized secret order in San Pedro who are working in the dark to wreak their private grudges and get even with the men they do not like, or whether the cards sent to Herald were only sent by some enemy of his. The work thus far done in uncovering the cowardly miscreant or order, if there be one, has only re-sulted in the discovery that the red cards were originally from Colorado, where they have been generally used by a band of cut-throats or "White A committee composed of Gen. likely that the whole thing will come out in a few days.

Since putting the matter in the hands of the officers Herald has gone quietly along. He is naturally a quiet man, and has very little to say to any one outside of business. He says that if any one wants to attack him the sooner they blaze away the better.

The story of the cards has leaked out in San Pedro, and is the talk of the town; but while San Pedro people talk freely among themselves, they are exceedingly reticent to outsiders, ag that it only reached Los Angeles yesterday, although it has been known there for although it has been known there for a few days past. If there is a regular organized band of vigilantes in San Pedro, who have taken such an ominous motto as that given in the cut, it is likely that some dead men will be found on the streets or floating in the bay before long. Following is a reproduction of the first card received by Mr. Herald.

Upon graduating from Mills Seminary in Oakland about four years ago she sailed for Europe, accompanied by a party of four other young ladies, chaperoned by Mrs. Woods of Mills Seminary. The young ladies traveled extensively over Europe and Egypt, Miss Rowena finally taking up her abode permanently in Paris. She recently attended a court ball in Rome, and was regarded as the handsomest lady present, being complimented by the King for her remarkable beauty. She is a sister of Mrs. W. S. Maxwell, Mrs. W. ### THE CITRUS FAIR.

Outlying Places Ready to Take Hold-Good Indications. F. Edward Gray, who has charge of the Citrus Fair, is about the busiest man in the city at present. His headquarters in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce present a busy appearance, and from general signs it may be predicted that the fair will be a success. The guarantee fund is much larger than the committee ever dreamed of getting, and producers from all over Southern California are writing favorable letters. Mr. Gray received a letter from the Pomona Board of Trade yesterday saying that they will get up the finest exhibit of Pomona fruits ever displayed in this city.

At last Dock Dowling, & young thief, stole a fine gun and sold it young thier, stole a nne gun and sold it to Dunn, he having, of course, a thor-ough knowledge of the fact. With one exception the day's experiences were most pleasant. As luck would have it, the board passed the Eighth-street schoolhouse during the recess hour, and there were about three hundred children, ranging from 8 to 16 years of age, playing in the yard. William Lamberson and M. Schweny claim damages from the regrading of Temple street. The matter will be investigated further.

W. T. Lambie asked for 20 days further time to pave New High and Temple streets. Granted.

A petition from Fred Alles and several others, asking that the name of Fort street be changed to Broadway, received but little encouragement, as Fort street is one of the oldest landmarks of Los Angeles, and the impression seemed to prevail that the name should not be blotted out.

The trustees of the Burdick estate et al. ask that Second street Be improved and graded. The petition is one of the longest ever sent to the board, and work will probably be commenced very soon.

F. Edward Gray of the Citrus Fair

City Council authorizes the City Attorney to apply to the Supreme Court for a rehearing no further steps will be taken in the matter. W.F.Fitzgerald, Esq., who had been retained by Judge Stanton to examine the law and the decision, yesterday gave his opinion to the effect that the decision killed the police courts for all purposes, as it declared in effect that they had not been legally constituted and therefore had no existence in the eye of the law. This opinion satisfied Judge Stanton, and he will not contest the matter any further. Judge Owens dismissed all cases pending before him Wednesday afternoon, thereby closing up the business of his department.

Judge Stanton was seen by a TIMES reporter yesterday afternoon, and said that, so far as he was concerned, he was done, and would not apply to the Supreme Court for a rehearing. The expense, he said, would be considerable, perhaps as much as $500, and, while he thought, in view of the two decisions, and the unsettled manner in which the case was left, it should again go before the Supreme Court hos decisions, and the unsettled manner in which the case was left, it should again go before the Supreme Court hos decisions, and the unsettled manner in which the case was left, it should again go before the Supreme Court has crossed itself, and the City Council should instruct the City Attorney to apply for a rehearing, as it is a matter of sufficient importance to justify such procedure.

ONTARIO FAIR.

ONTARIO FAIR.

A Successful Citrus Exhibit-The

The Ontario Citrus Fair, which was held in the A.O.U.W. Hall, Ontario, all day Wednesday and during the evening, was a success in every sense. The attendance was good, and the display of citrus fruit all that could be desired. In many respects the Ontario oranges and lemons on exhibition rival the celebrated fruit of Riverside, being pright, free from scale, and possessing all the essential features of the best Southern California fruit. When one considers that only six years ago where are now located orange groves was mere pasture land, the showing made at the Ontario fair was indeed a brilliant one, and clearly demonstrates what can be done in a very short period in the way of citrus culture in our superior climate and soils. Up to date the growers of this favorite section have shipped unward of sixty carloads of oranges, the prices received being the same as for the Riverside fruit. This gratifying showing will no desired. In many respects the Outario

That Destroyed a First-street Fruit Stand.

What came very near resulting in a serious fire occurred last night about 9:45 o'clock. At that hour four or five young men were standing at the counter in J. W. Rannells's fruit stand and cigar store at No. 124 West First The following petitions were examined, and will be passed upon today at the regular meeting.

The young men rushed out and gave the alarm, which was turned in by Officer Walker from box 31. The engines responded promptly, and in a few minutes the flames were extinguished, but not before the fruit stand had been entirely cleaned out, and the adjoining building, No. 124, a two-story brick, occupied by Levy Bros., tailors, on the first floor, and Drake Bros., sign painters, on the second, somewhat sign painters, on the second, somewhat damaged.

The Howes building, on the west sice, escaped without any damage beyond the scorching of the paint on one of the bay windows.

W. F. White's livery stable is in the rear of the burned building, and six buggies were damaged, the tops being burned off. All the horses had been taken out of that part of the stable adjacent to the fire, and were driven around on Second street. Three of them escaped, but were afterward caught and returned to the stable.

The total loss is small. That of Rannells on his stock and fixtures is $350 to $400, fully insured in the Sun and one other company. Drake Bros.' loss is about the same, and that of Levy Bros. is nominal. The buildings belonged to Pike'& Jones, and are of little value. The real estate office of Francisco, Stuart & Okey escaped without damage. out damage.

RETRENCHMENT.

It Is Discussed as to the School

Teachers.
The spirit of retrenchment seems to be spreading all over the city, the latest department to receive attention being the Board of Education. Yesterday afternoon several members of the City Council and a prominent member of the school board discussed Fort street is one of the oldest landmarks of Los Angeles, and the impression seemed to prevail that the name should not be blotted out.

The trustees of the Burdick estate et al. ask that Second street be improved and graded. The petition is one of the longest ever sent to the board, and work will probably be commenced very soon.

F. Edward Gray of the Citrus Fair Committee asked for a permit to hang a banner across First street. The matter will be referred to the Council.

J. W. Mitchell et al. petitioned the board to repair Temple steect near the western line of the city, as it is in a dagerous condition. Referred to the Superintendent of Streets.

CONTROL NEEDED.

A man fell in a drunken stupor in a lime-pit on a Los Angeles street, and nconscious until one of his eyes was totally destroyed. This occurrence teaches, not necessarily the desirability of a total abstinence from the use of alcoholic beverages in moderate quantities, but assuredly the need of a more close and careful supervision of the system under which intoxicating drinks are dispensed in this city. The saloon-keeper who sold that man the last few drinks, which changed his condition from one of over-conviviality to one of besottedness, is morally-and should be legally—responsible for the mishap which befell the unfortunate. There are a few honorable exceptions among the saloon-keepers of Los Angeles, who will not sell a man a drink after they great majority will supply a drunken man with tiquor as long as he has money to pay for it. Here is where many eastern communities, where they regulate these things better than with us. One well-proved case of selling liquor to a drunken man should be sufficient to forfeit a saloon-keeper's license, and would probably be treated to the specno political "pull" should enable him to get it back again. High license, though good in its way, is by no ENTERED AT POSTOFFICE AS 2D-CLASS MATTER. means sufficient to insure a proper regulation of the liquor traffic. The man who intends to cheat, adulterate, rob, and sell to all men under all conditions, as long as they have money, can better afford to pay $100 a month than can a man who desires to run his busiless in a respectable manner. What we need is a much closer scrutiny of the characters of the men who apply for saloon licenses, and the furnishing by them of solid-not straw-bonds that they will run their establishment in a way which should be strictly defined by law. In this manner the nanifold evils which now undoubtedly attach to the retail liquor traffic, and which furnish an excuse for impracticable and irrational crusades on the part of enthusiasts, may be reduced

The Board of Education, as we think wisely, laid the matter on the table Such a measure would, no doubt, come 80.00 in very handy to the doctors just now as the "grip" is weakening its hold. In fact, the vaccine business furnishes quite a resource for many needy young physicians. There are, however, a large and increasing number of citizens who much doubt the efficacy of a process which they know has, in many cases, produced dangerous-sometimes fatal—results: Again, the doctors have never yet, as far as we are aware, replied to the question we asked them a year or so ago: How often must a person be vaccinated to be safe? When first introduced by Jenner, the process was said to protect for life; then it was for seven years; now it is apparently necessary as often as business among the doctors begins to get a little dull.

THE action of the Grand Jury in the Chandler indictment case has been amply justified by developments in the courtroom. The miscarriage of justice in the case originated in the District Attorney's office; not in the Grand Jury-room. Judge Clark, in his charge of Mr. Straight Strai to the jury which tried the case, said:

"While somewhat loath to do so, I consider it my duty in this case to edvise you to return a verdict of not guilty. I do so, not because I think the evidence interest in the same of the same of

THE Southern Pacific Company is still experiencing great trouble on its lines in Northern California and Oregon. The total cost to the company of all these washouts will be immense. One lesson which they should have taught is the futility of laying tracks along or near the beds of ravines, in this land of periodical rains. The saving on first cost of construction is made up, half a dozen times over, by the heavy cost of repairs, which, in many cases, practically amount to a rebuilding of the road. Another lesson which we should learn from these heavy floods is the importance of conserving our forests. so that, when heavy moisture falls on the mountains, it may percolate gradually to the valleys, instead of coming as a devastating torrent.

> A HORRIBLE story comes from Detroit, where a venal undertaker, ambitious to make money, has been wrapping the bodies of dead veterans in and encasing them in rough pine coffins for the sake of making a large profit on his business. The State of Michigan pays $40 for each interment of destitute veterans, taking it for granted that this amount of money is sufficient to insure a decent burial. THERE is one noteworthy feature about the Mayor's constant tussles with the Council, which is that, nine times out of ten, the Councilmen ulti-mately come round to the Mayor's side of the question, and, in the tenth case, usually seek for a compromise. The Milwaukee Sentinel gives the following account of the Foraker-Wood incident, which is creating so wood incident, which is creating so much excitement in political circles:

One Wood had invented a patent ballot-box. A bill was introduced by Mr. Campbell, the present Governor of Ohio, when a member of Congress, providing that the Government should provide ballot-boxes of a certain description to each of the voting precincts in the United States. The description was that of Wood's patent, which was was that of Wood's patent, which was not named, but, if the bill had been not named, but, if the bill had been passed, his boxes alone could have been used under it, and the patent would have been of immense value. The bill did not pass.

During the last election campaign in Ohio, Wood, who wanted to be appointed smoke inspector of Cincinnati, furnished Gov. Foraker with a copy of an agreement by which a company was formed having the sole right to manufacture the patent ballot-boxes. Among the stockholders whose names were subscribed to it were Mr. Campbell, author of the bill, and then the Democratic candidate for Governor. Senator Sherman and Congressmen Senator Sherman and Congressmen McKinley, Butterworth, and the late S. S. Cox. These names were cleverly forged, having been traced on the paper from genuine signatures. The forgeries were clever enough to have deceived a man who looked only at the writing. But a man of good sense, knowing the men whose signatures were affixed to the decument, would have had be a ward to the decument. have had his suspicions at once aroused. The document, if kgenuine aroused. The document, if seenuine, meant that these prominent members of Congress were engaged in a corrupt and disgraceful plot to get a job through Congress for their own pecuniary benefit. Gov. Foraker admits that he was surprised to see some of the names on such a document, but de-clares that he supposed the signatures were genuine. Soon after he gave the document to

Soon after he gave the document to Mr. Halstead of the Cinemati Gazette, who, with a characteristic lack of judgment, committed the unparadonable follow of publishing it, suppressing the names of Sherman, McKinley and Butterworth. Haistead's purpose was to make a point against Campbell. In a short time the fact of the forgery was demonstrated, and the publication give away," and its members is a "dead give away," and would be laughable if it were not so vicious. Considering the fact that the body found a true indictment for blackmail against Boyce, the editor and manager of the Themse the weath of that imperited were such as to make it incredible that they should have been parties in such a scheme, have communicated with them, and thus saved himself from fatal blunder. But he appears to have fatal blunder. But he appears to nave been ready to believe all men scoundrels, and, it is suspected, thought it possible first to kill off Campbell politically, and later to use the same weapon to destroy the reputation of men who might stand in the way of his ambition in his own party.

The Tribune refers to the "twenty-on affidavit of John W. Green." That ton affidavit of John W. Green." That fully explains Green's discomfiture. When a man starts out with a twenty-ton affidavit, and makes a misstep, he can hardly escape being crushed. Had Green succeeded in getting beyond the "dead point," he might have rolled the mammoth document on to Col, Otis of The Times, but, unfortunately, he didn't get over the divide, and, as a matter of course, the big affidavit rolled back upon himself. A twenty-ton affidavit is like an old gun we have seen—the fellow behind it was in more danger than the one in front.

One of these amendments, which was overlooked in the abstract sent out dast night, is of importance, as it strikes out of the new code the authority conferred upon committees reporting general appropriation bills to present new legislation upon appropriation bills. It is learned that this action was directed by the Republican caucus yesterday, only after a bilter fight, in which Cannon and McKinley were finally overcome by the opposition, under the lead of Payson. As amended the rule is in the exact shape of the corresponding rule in the preceeding House.

Reports from points on the Williamette River indicate that the river is falling very rapidly. Detailed reports of the damage above will be slow to come in on account of the interruption to telegraphic communication. The most serious loss will be the dessruction of bridges, which seem to have been swept away everywhere. The largest towns in the valley are well above high water, and only small and unimportant buildings have been carried away.

The interruption to travel still continues, but the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company has established a steamer service to Cascade Locks, above which trains are running. A TURBULENT LIVERYMAN. S. Celestin Arrested for Abusing a

The Situation at Portland Celestin, the livery-stable man at the corner of First and Los Angeles streets, who has figured in police circles on more than one occasion, was again arrested by Officer Rinkenbach and taken to the police station, where a charge of disturbing the peace was put against him, and he was released on depositing $20 cash bail for his appeardepositing $20 cash bail for his appearance today.

It appears that Capt. A. Burns Anderson of The Grange, Albambra, came to the city yesterday, afternoon and put his horse up at Celestin's stable. In the evening, when Anderson went for the horse, it is claimed that Celestin charged him $2.50 for allowing him to remain in the stable during the afternoon. A dispute arose, when Celestin attempted to assault Anderson, but was stopped by Officer Rinkenbach. Celestin then began to abuse the officer, when he placed him under arres.

The Spring Races.
The directors of the Sixth District Agricultural Association held a business meeting yesterday afternoon. L. Lichtenberger presided, and the other directors present were Dr. K. D. Wise and Messrs. Hynds, Al Workman, Wright and J. C. Newton. A 2:40 trot was substituted for the spring meeting in May instead of the 2:45 trot. B. Benjamin was elected secretary of the association. The secretary was instructed to correspond with the northern associations, so that the director of the Sixth District. the directors of the Sixth District Association will be able to select a date for their fair which will not clash with any other association.

It was stated on the streets yesterday afternoon, however, streets yesterday afternoon, however, that $400,000 of the amount had been secured. Some of the bankers affect to believe that the City Bank cannot give the bond required, but others insist that they will have no trouble in the matter, and that at the next meeting of the Council the instrument will be presented for approval. The proposition to annex Lower California to this State is not meeting with much favor in Mexico. But if Gen. Vandever succeeds in inducing our Government to buy the peninsula, and can then carve the new State of South California out of the territory south of the Tehachepi Mountains, we will make the grizzled old veteran our first Governor. We look upon this scheme with especial complacency, because we feel confident that the keen rivalry between Los Angeles and San Diego would result in making Riverside the capital of the new State, as we occupy a sort of middle ground between those two cities. And what a magnificent site for a state house we could furnish at the head of Magnolia avenue.

Gov. Waterman's recent utterances in favor of getting possession of Lower California seem to surprise some of the higher Mexican officials, who do not understand that Gov. Waterman has the same right to express his opinions which any other citizen has. It is not intended by the Governor to take immediate possession of the sand-driven desert south of us, and we hope the

A Symmetrical and Robust Liar.

[Chicago Times.]
The robust liar is abroad in the land The robust liar is abroad in the land and his tales are more picturesque than ever. His latest is a fish story. John Webster was fishing in the Iowa River. He pulled out a pike, inside of which he found $65 in gold, $15 in silver, $25 in greenbacks, $10,000 in bonds and a certificate of deposit for $25 on a bank at Johnstown, Pa. Webster figures it out that the pike was in the Conemanyh River at the time of the ngures it out that the pike was in the flood. That he swallowed the money dropped from the pockets of John J. Jones, to whom a paper proves the money belongs. That the pike them swam down the Conemaugh to the Alleghany, the Ohio into the Mississippi, and up the latter river into the lowa River, where he was caught. There is nothing gauzy about this story, except that it is doubtful if the fish with such a bank account would eat a worm on a a bank account would eat a worm on a Frosty Facts and Warm Fiction.

[Riverside Press.]
The San Francisco Bulletin labors

The San Francisco Bulletin labors through a long column of wearisome fact and fiction to prove that the climate of Marysville, in the N.C.B., is as mild and genial—for oranges—as is the climate of Riverside. According to the Bulletin, oranges can be as successfully and profitably grown up there as down here. But where are the oranges? Gen. Bidwell bought 20,000 orange trees from T. A. Garey of Los Angelés in 1868 and planted them all in the neighborhood of Chico. Where are those trees today? Frozen to the ground years ago. A single frosty fact like this is better than a column of warm fiction in the Bulletin's columns.

Parties have estimated that the present orange crop of the four southern counties will bring the owners $1,700,000.—[Chino Champion.

Santa Monica, Feb. 5.—[Correspondence of The Times.] Quite a large audience of Santa Monica's most intelligent citizens assembled Steere's Opera-house Tuesday night to listen to Ralph E. At the close of the lecture Mr. Shinn announced the intention to organize a Nationalist club. Judge Morgan asked to what bylaws a member pledged himself.

He was answered by Mr. Hoyt, who read the resolutions adopted by the first Nationalist club, which was organized in Boston a year ago last November; also a new resolution passed by the Los Angeles club, that "we believe that the United States Government should control all the railroads and telegraph lines, and that during the telegraph lines, and that during the coming year we will do all in our power to elect for the Legislature men whose

THE RESCUING COMMITTEE.

Report of Its Fifth Week's Work-Hanging Fire.
The secretary of the committee of citizens who have in charge the canvass to raise the $60,000 to save the Young Men's Christian Association building, makes the following report: Amount to be raised by March 15, 1890...$60,000 Amount reported-January 31st...$10,560 Amount added to February 7th....500 11,000

Total balance to be raised...... ....... $48,940 The names of donors, this week are John Goldsworthy and O. H. Churchill. The account now stands:

This has been a hard week for definite answers. Over one hundred and eighty persons in all have been seen by the committee during the past five weeks. Many more have been called upon and not found. Only 24 definite and favorable answers have been received. The committee simply refuse to be discouraged. So many of those seen have given encouragement of final favorable action that the outlook is more favorable than appears upon the surface.

Whatever is done must be done be-fore March 15th, as at that date all the pledges will be void, unless the whole amount is raised.

The notice of the public is called to the fact that this bank only loans money on approved real-estate security: that it does not loan money to its stockholders officers or clerks; that among its stockholders are some of the oldest and most responsible citizens of the community: that, under the State laws, the private estates of its stockholders are provate liable for the total indebtedness of the bank.

The facts, with care exercised in making loans, insure a *afe depository for saving accounts. School teachers, clerks, mechanics, employes in factories and shops, laborers, etc., will find it convenient to make deposits in small amounts.

EDITORIALS.

Is this winter or summer? WATERING CARTS are needed on Orange Grove avenue.

THE snow is fast disappearing from Old Baldy and San Jacinto. THE Park Commissioners meet at the San Gabriel Valley Bank today, and it is expected that something will be done. Mr. Painter's offer, it is understood, is not withdrawn; or, if it was, it was under a misunderstanding. The commissioners simply desired to obtain as many bids as possible, so that all parties could have a fair and equal chance. The Sherb tract is the best for a park, with its fine trees and other features, but it is doubtful if the amount of money required could be raised at present.

THE highest compliment which has been paid the climate of Southern California is found in its defiance of la grippe. We have had the influenza here for several weeks, in as pro-We have had the influenza nounced a form as it has been found in the East. Here are hundreds of invalids with troubles, ranging from consumption pure and simple up through all the grades of bronchial and other affections, and of all places in the country we would under ordinary circumstances expect to see an unusual death rate. On the contrary, our medical men inform us that they have not had a single fatal case of la grippe in Pasadena. Some weeks ago we ventured to prognosticate such a result. There is something about our air and climate, even in this unusually damp and rainy season, that has dis-armed the epidemic and made it powerless and impotent.

A GROWL is made against the Pasadena editor of THE TIMES for "suggesting Democrats for office" in this city. Let us dissect one "TIMES Democratic nominee." A few days ago we suggested that the next Council should be made up of the best and brightest business men available, without regard to party; and so that the public could understand what we meant by this, we gave the names of a number of men, representing all phases of the attitude political. Among these was one Democrat, Willis U. Masters. Mr. Masters is the present postmaster, held over from the Democratic reign, so far, by a mysteriou ispensation of Providence and a petition signed by almost every Republican, Democrat and Prohibitionist in this city. He is the father of the postal system here, and has made it what it is. His good judgment has never failed, and the postoffice is a model. THE TIMES urges Mr. Masters for the Council because he has done more for Pasadena, irrespective of party, than any man in the city. There has not been a successful movement here for the past years but he has been identified with. His aim has been to alleviate the city, and no name has had a stronger influ ence upon our growth than his. If Mr. Masters was at the head of the next Council, the virtual Mayor of the city, with a body of men of similar stamp to id him, the people would know that its affairs would be conducted in the very best manner, and we have arrived at a time in our history when these matters must receive the attention of men of the highest intelligence, experience and training. The com-position of the City Council has no bearing upon general politics; the question is simply one of local affairs, of economy in the expenditure of public money, and the various questions affecting the growth and general welfare of the city. There being no binding movement on foot in the line of a straight local Republican ticket, Mr. Masters's friends, of all parties, will simply run him on the above platform. without the formality of a caucus, and ### against the field, and that he would be elected goes without saying. PERSONALS.

Dr. Clifford, who happened to be near the scene of the accident, had her placed on a litter in the baggage-room and rendered the necessary immediate medical attention. Dr. F. F. Rowland, the railroad company's local surgeon, and Dr. Mc. Ilvaine soon arrived and proceeded to investigate the character of her injuries.

The right foot was found to be crushed in a frightful manner. There was a large scalp wound on the upper part or the head, the upper lip was cut and the body badly bruised. The hair about the wound on the kead was cut off and the injuries dressed as well as circumstances would permit. The mangled foot was dressed as well as well as could be, but it was evident that that member would have to be amputated. The woman suffered severely, but bore up-bravely through it all. Shortly before noon a special train was sent up from Los Angeles, whence she was removed to a hospital, where the foot was amputated.

While the injuries are of a serious and painful character, they will not necessarily prove fatal unless severe reaction sets in. The fact is no criticism of such quarantine laws, for they are but prudent safeguards against a very great danger. As the sharp curve was rounded the engineer caught sight of the woman on the track, only a short distance away. He blew the whistle twice and applied the air brakes, but it was too late to save her.

The locomotive struck her, throwing her to the side of the track, but not far enough to prevent her right foot being crushed beneath the whels. The train was quickly stopped and the wounded woman taken on board and brought to the station. jures not only himself but his entire neighborhood. The truth of this remark, and the application of it, will be seen in the following incident, true and fresh: A few days ago a visitor to the country, a new arrival among the tourists, was ap pleased with it that he sought a real-estate agent and announced his desire to buy an orchard, to the extent of $20,000 cash. The agent took him around and showed him all the orchards he had for sale. He saw, of course, many well-kept and pretty ones, but on the contrary so many ill-kept, neglected and homely ones that he was "soured" on the entire neighborhood and concluded that it was no good for fruit, arguing very forcibly that if it was cluded that it was no good for fruit, arguing very forcibly that if it was owners of orchards could not afford to neglect them as they did. So he backed out altogether, and if he buys at all will do it in some place where the fruit trees are generally well cared for and in a prosperous condition. So some-body's neglect cost, that neighborhood $20,000 and a good citizen.

Probably finer breeds would have laid more, but even these common ones did well, and show what results can be obtained for so little capital. Surely this kind of a business requires little investment. Fifty cents for a hen and 25 cents for a dozen common eggs are the stock in trade, and for a hen and 25 cents for a dozen common eggs are the stock in trade, and with this a man could soon have a good flock of poultry. It will be seen that the above yield is only 144 eggs a year apiece, and seems under rather than over a fair average. It should be added that Mr. Gahr kept his fowls scrupulously clean, sweeping out his pens every morning, without which he could not have succeeded so well. He thinks, also, that he could have done proportionately well with a larger number.

First—Ten times more eggs can be hatched by one machine in the same time requiring no more attention than the hen.
Send—It is a easier and more agreeable job to turn the eggs and fill the lamp daily of an incubator, than it is to lift a cross and fussy hen from the nest, feed her and watch that she return to duty at the proper time.

Third—An incubator will not trample on and mites from attacking and multiplying on the setting hen, which is, to say the least, a source of great annoyance to the finite in an incubator. These little pests will germinate and grow fat on ash or oak boards.

Fifth—The inclination of an incubator to become broody does not have to be consulted, as is the case with her great American henship. Give it the eggs, light the

There can possibly be no as stem of practice more conducive to the cure of the above diseases than the COMPUUND OXYGEN and other MEDICATED INHALATIONS. A few days' trial will convince the most skeptical of this, while at the same time it can be attested by thousands of patients who have been thus cured. If, as is now conceeded by the most scientific investigators, that these diseases arise from living germs or parasites, millions of which exist in the diseased tissue, then, we ask, which is the more reasonable, viz. to administer the remedies by the stomach or to introduce them into the diseased parts by the inhalation system of practice? All but the prejudiced will be able to answer at once that the more reasonable is that system which conveys the remedies directly to the seat of the disease, which kills and destroys these germs and thoroughly removes every poison of the system from the blood, no matter from what cause it may exist or how long it has continued. And yet thousands of poople are so projudiced that they continue to suffer a be principles of a century past? Let us discard the old and abandoned principles and keep up with recent investigations which have proved to be so conducive to the rapid and positive oure of Ca.arrh, Throat Diseases, Ashma. ## J. S. VAN DOREN, 34 N. Spring St. CHOICE ORANGE LAND!

AT THE FOOTHILLS IN "AZUSA."

WE ARE NOW SUBDIVIDING ONE OF THE CHOICEST 18)-ACRE ranches in this ORANGE BELT into 10-ACRE TRACTs to place on the market at present bedrock terms and prices: only $150 per acre, or $\frac{1}{2}$ cash, balance 1, 2 and 3 years. We can show you orchards in the Azusa where the oranges soid the year for $\frac{1}{2}$ oper acre from trees 3 years planted, and others from $\frac{1}{2}$ 600 per acre, according to age. This lovely valley of about $800 acres, under the water ditches of the San Gabriel River, is at the altitude just above the frost, for, smut and scale, making it one of the healthiest as well as the most productive for all purposes of any part of Southern California. Situated on the Santa Fe R. R., 28 miles from Les Angeles, where the river first leaves the mountain, giving this valley a full and never-fail in supply of pure water standing the test of the dryest-seasons. It being also the head of the San Gabriel Valley, it is not far enough in the interior to place it beyond the force of the delightful summer breezes from the ocean.

We also have some improved places in Azusa.
